

The Chegg Trial Safety Checklist

Welcome to your guide to safely and effectively using a Chegg trial. This checklist is designed to help you explore all of Chegg's powerful tools, get the academic help you need, and—most importantly—avoid any unexpected subscription charges.

Section 1: Before You Start Your Trial

Get set up for success and safety before you even enter your payment details.

Gather Your Information

You will need a valid payment method (credit card or PayPal) to activate the trial, even though you won't be charged immediately.

Use a Unique & Secure Password

Don't reuse a password from another account. This protects your personal information.

CRITICAL: Set a Cancellation Reminder

Open your calendar app right now. Set a reminder for 2-3 days BEFORE your trial is scheduled to end. Title it "Cancel Chegg Trial." This is the single most important step to avoid an unwanted charge.

Understand What You're Trying

Know the difference between the plans.

- Chegg Study: Includes Textbook Solutions and Expert Q&A.
- Chegg Study Pack: Includes everything in Chegg Study, PLUS Chegg Math Solver and Chegg Writing (Plagiarism Checker, Grammar Help, and Citation Generator). Start the trial for the Study Pack to test all the features.

Section 2: Maximizing Your Trial Week

Your trial is active! Use this week to explore everything Chegg has to offer.

Find Your Textbooks

Use the search bar to find your exact textbooks. Go to a difficult chapter and review the step-by-step solutions for a few problems.

Solve an Equation with Chegg Math Solver

Enter a tricky math problem (from algebra, pre-calculus, or calculus) and see the step-by-step explanation it provides.

Ask an Expert Q&A

Have a tough homework question that isn't in your book? Post it on Expert Q&A to see how quickly you get a detailed, expert answer. Pro Tip: Be specific and upload an image if possible!

Create a Custom Flashcard Deck

Explore the millions of existing flashcards or create a small deck for one of your subjects to test the feature.

Save Key Content (Safely)

Chegg doesn't have a "download" button. As you find useful solutions, take detailed notes or screenshots. Organize these into folders on your computer by subject for easy access later.

Test Chegg Writing

- Check for Plagiarism: Upload an old essay to the plagiarism checker to see how it scans for similarities.
- Generate Citations: Use the citation tool to create a bibliography in APA, MLA, or Chicago style.
- Get Grammar Proofreading: Paste a paragraph of text into the grammar checker to see its suggestions.

Plan Your Study

Browse the "Learn" section for your subjects to see how Chegg organizes concepts and practice problems, which can help you structure your study sessions.

Section 3: The Most Important Step - How to Cancel Your Trial

Your calendar reminder went off! It's time to cancel your subscription to avoid a charge.

Log In to Your Chegg Account

Go to Chegg.com and log in.

Navigate to Your Account

Click on your profile icon and go to "My Account."

Find Your Subscriptions

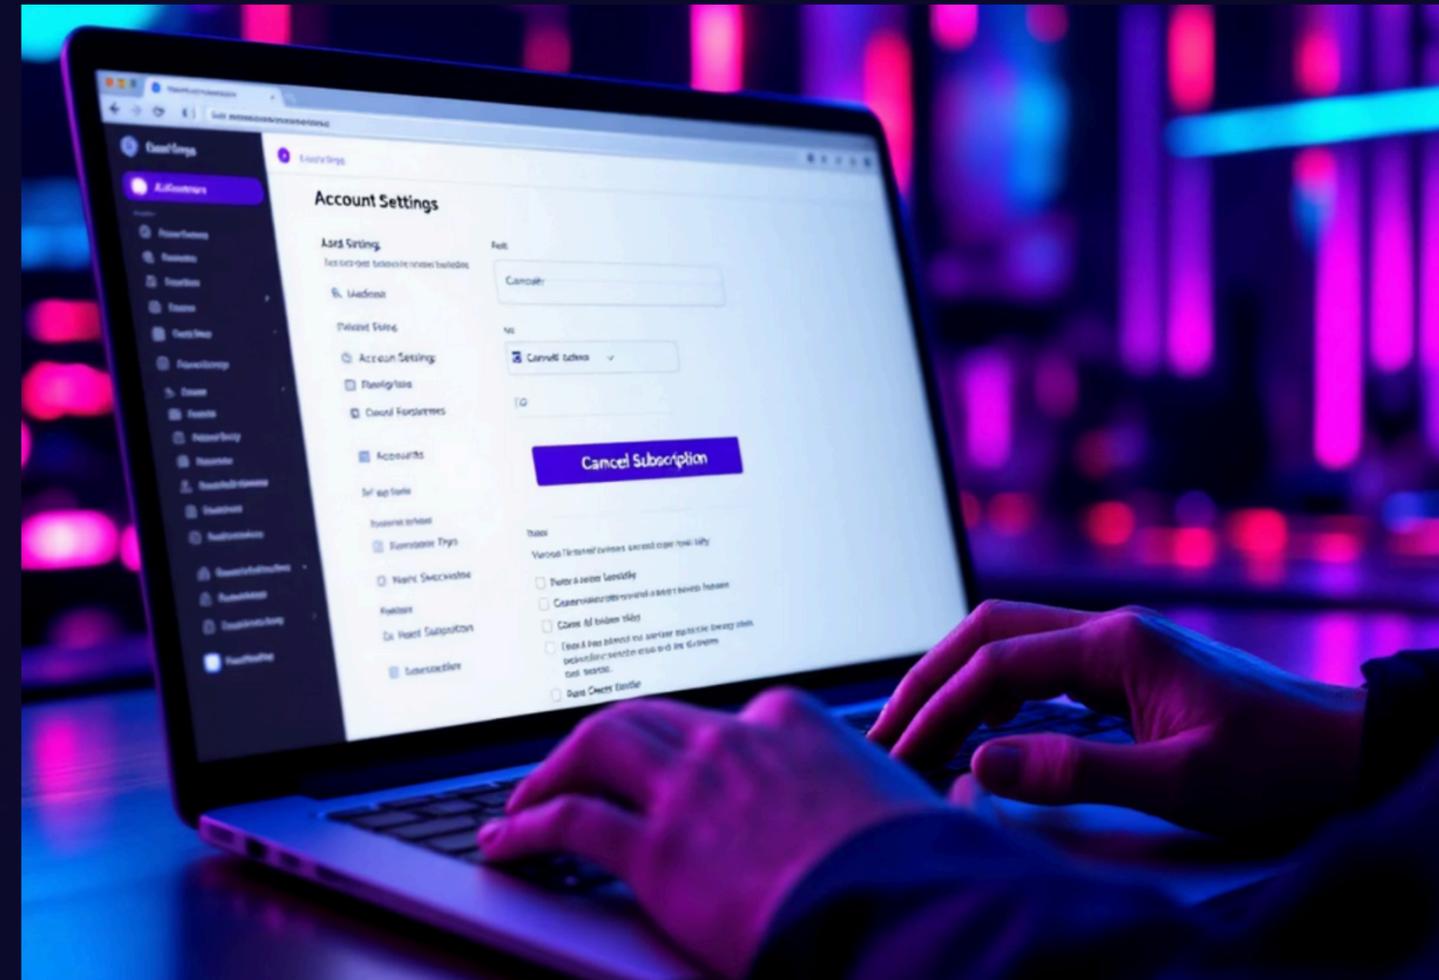

In your account settings, locate the option for "Orders" or "Subscriptions."

Click "Cancel Subscription"

Find your active Chegg Study Pack trial and select the option to cancel.

Follow All On-Screen Prompts

Chegg may ask you why you are leaving or present you with another offer. Continue clicking through all the steps until you see a final confirmation screen.

GET PROOF: Check Your Email for a Confirmation

Do not skip this step. You should receive an email from Chegg confirming that your subscription has been cancelled. If you don't get it, go back and repeat the process or contact support. Save this email.

Section 4: After the Trial - Safe & Smart Chegg Use

Whether you cancelled or decided to subscribe, follow these rules for safe usage.

Understand Your School's Academic Integrity Policy

Know the rules about using tutoring services like Chegg. Use it as a tool to check your own work and learn, not just to copy answers.

Never Share Your Chegg Account

Sharing your login details is a violation of Chegg's Terms of Service and can get your account permanently banned. It also exposes your personal information.

Be Cautious of "Free Chegg" Scams

Be wary of third-party websites or individuals who promise free Chegg access. They can be a risk to your personal data and online security.
